What do you think it means to be strong? Who (real or not) do you think of when you think of strength?

How does a mother caring for a small baby show strength and gentleness?

I wonder how it's a sign of strength to serve and lift up others?

How do you feel inspired to show gentleness?

Draw a picture of someone who shows the strength of gentleness:

Write an acrostic poem about Gentleness.

The first letter on each line will begin the first word of that row.
